Dice Roller

Free offline sample. Keep your downloaded copy forever.

1. Download and open

Download the free ZIP file and extract it. Save the HTML file and this PDF somewhere easy to find. No account or payment details are needed. Signed-in downloads are also added to your TGM library. Open it with a desktop browser such as Chrome or Edge. If double-clicking opens another application, choose “Open with” and select your browser. No installation is needed.

2. Use it without internet

Once downloaded, the widget works without an account, subscription or internet connection. Downloading the free sample requires internet; opening and using the saved widget does not.

Download it free, save it, and open it from your desktop—even without Wi-Fi.

Add a desktop shortcut

Windows: Save the HTML file in a permanent folder, such as Documents → TGM Widgets. Right-click the file → Show more options (if shown) → Send to → Desktop (create shortcut). Rename the shortcut to the widget’s name, then double-click it whenever you want to use it.

Mac: Save the file in a permanent folder. In Finder, select it and choose File → Make Alias, then drag the alias to your desktop. Double-click the alias to open your widget.

The shortcut may show your browser’s icon. Keep the original file in its saved location so the shortcut continues to work.

3. Roll one, two or three dice

Click Roll for a new result. Use the settings button to choose one, two or three dice, turn the total on or off, toggle sound and choose from eight themes: classic, orange, rainbow, wooden, neon, space, underwater and jungle. Rolls include animation and celebration effects; your browser’s reduced-motion preference is respected.

4. Saving your settings

The widget attempts to save your dice count, theme, sound, total setting and latest result in this browser. The message below it tells you if saving is available. Keep the file in the same location. Moving or renaming it, changing browsers, private browsing, or clearing browser data may reset your settings. Settings do not sync between devices. The dice still work if saving is unavailable.

5. Devices and updates

Best on a laptop, desktop or Chromebook, including a computer connected to an interactive whiteboard. Managed school devices may restrict local HTML files; check with your school if needed. Local HTML files are not recommended on iPad.

Keep your downloaded copy forever. Download available updates free from your TGM library. An updated download may start with a fresh board.

Your classroom licence

For your own teaching use, including presenting it on your classroom screen and using it on your own teaching devices. Please do not share, resell or upload the file to a shared drive or public website. Other teachers need their own copy. Your download is licensed to you and includes your purchase details. Once downloaded, you can use it without internet, a subscription or signing in to TGM.
